NEBOSH - National Certificate in Fire Safety and Risk Management

Overview:

This is a unit supplement to the NEBOSH General Certificate comprising of 1-weeks formal tuition concluding with a written examination and a practical assessment*

See it as an endorsement to your existing valuable NEBOSH qualification extending your competence and capability in this important topic.

To be eligible you must possess a Paper NG1 pass in the General Certificate current within the last 5-years. If you are out of time we can arrange to refresh your certificate and help you re-sit Paper NG1 to the new syllabus.

If you do not hold the NEBOSH General Certificate NG1 please call to discuss options.

The Programme:

The FC1 syllabus covers -

Managing fire risk: the legal framework; legal and financial consequences of failure to manage fire safety; the process, sequences and the purpose of investigating fire related incidents (accidental and maliciously set fires) in the workplace; the legal and organisational requirements for recording and reporting fire related incidents.

Principles of fire and explosion: combustion processes; ignition of solids, liquids, and gases; fire growth and spread; explosion and explosive combustion.

Causes and prevention of fires: fire risks associated with flammable, combustible and explosive substances; fire risks associated with common workplace processes and activities; measures to prevent fires.

Fire protection: requirements for adequate means of escape; access requirements to assist in fire fighting operations; fire detection and alarm systems; early fire suppression systems.

Safety of people in the event of fire: devising procedures in the event of a fire; how people perceive and react to fire danger; measures needed to overcome behavioural problems to ensure safe evacuation in the event of fire; assisting disabled people to escape.

Fire risk assessment: fire risk assessment recording and reviewing procedures; potential for pollution arising from fires; measures to prevent and reduce fire pollution.

This course requires an element of private study.

The examination (FC1) completes the week of study and a practical test (FC2) must be conducted in the candidate's own workplace shortly after sitting the examination.

Training notes:

All attendees will get a comprehensive reference manual covering, in depth, all of the subjects included in the training programme.

Assessment:

We will not leave you stranded when it comes to the final test. Throughout the programme our trainers will help you to prepare for the examination by developing your question reading and answering technique. This attention to the finer detail of the examination ensures that most of our Certificate level candidates pass first time.
