

NEBOSH - Health and Safety Management for Construction (UK)

Course Overview:

There are no entry requirements for this qualification.

NEBOSH Health and Safety Management for Construction (UK) is ideal for:

Construction site managers

Contracts managers

Site workers with health and safety responsibilities

Construction health and safety advisors

It also makes excellent continued professional development (CPD) for health and safety professionals working in other industries or looking to move into construction.

According to the Health and Safety Executive (HSE), the construction industry loses around 2 million working days each year due to workplace injury and work-related illness.

NEBOSH Health and Safety Management for Construction (UK) can help to:

Minimise workplace injuries and illness

Ensure you comply with Construction (Design and Management) Regulations 2015 (CDM)

Understand the responsibilities of the six roles in the CDM regulations

Boost employee wellbeing

Demonstrate your commitment to health and safety, which can help win business

Strengthen your health and safety culture.

Learners will be better able to influence their on-site colleagues to work more safely; because they will gain the confidence and technical know-how to challenge unsafe behaviours and offer practical solutions.

Aligned to CDM regulations, NEBOSH Health and Safety Management for Construction (UK) is guided by legislation but focused on best practice.

NEBOSH Health and Safety Management for Construction (UK) will involve a minimum of 68 taught hours, and approximately 40 hours of private study and background reading to prepare for the 48 hours open book examination.

Assessment:

The assessment is an open book examination (OBE), which will be based on a realistic scenario, that will test both what you know and what you can do. You will be asked to carry out a series of tasks using evidence from the scenario and the underpinning knowledge gained through your studies and revision. You will have 48 hours to download, complete and submit your assessment.

Your assessment will be marked by an external examiner appointed by NEBOSH. These examiners are chosen for their experience and expertise to ensure that learners are assessed by the very best from our industry.
